

Black Parenting Strengths & Strategies (BPSS):
Raising Strong Resilient Black Children in a Racially Conscious Society
Developed by Dr. Stephanie Irby Coard

3-session workshop for Black parents
Join us 1 weeknight for 3 weeks

Black Parenting Strength and Strategies Program (BPSS)

Is an evidenced-based parenting program that aims to promote positive and relevant parenting practices for fostering cultural, social, and behavioral health among African American families and academic success in African American children.

Purpose of BPSS

STRENGTHEN parenting skills

IMPROVE parental involvement

EMPOWER parents to advocate & access

GUIDE parents in preparing children for success.

INCREASE positive behaviors in children

PROMOTE positive racial discuss

Who can participate?

Black parents/caregivers who have a Black child(ren) currently in elementary and/or middle school.

What to expect?

Families will participate in an orientation to learn of the logistics regarding their participation in the program

Families will then take part in a 3-series program that will involve workshops and evaluations

Families have the option to utilize our childcare and homework help assistance

Families will receive a total of $60 upon completion of the program and evaluations

Families will receive certificate of completion at the end of the program

Dinner will be served at sessions.

For more information and scheduling contact BPSS at 336-334-4666
aafss@gmail.com